

Publication

Publication of news and reports about students takes place in the local newspapers, the yearbook, and on the Jefferson C-123 web page. Some are hesitant about having their child's picture and name identified in publications. This gives you, the parent, the opportunity to decide when, where, and how publication of your child's picture and name are handled.

If you choose to have no publication, your child's name or picture will not appear when reporting the honor roll or other newsworthy items.

It is a general policy of the Jefferson web page not to identify students using full names when pictures are provided. High school team pictures and organization officer pictures may have full names with the group picture.

This authorization will remain in effect during your student's tenure at Jefferson C-123 School. In the event of any changes, notify the school and a new form will be completed at that time.

Check preferred option in each column.
