Thought for the Week: "Choosing to spend time with people who build you up, accept you, and love you, is a sign of emotional health and intelligence. But if we do not speak to ourselves in ways that are live-giving, we will not be able to receive the love, encouragement and acceptance other people extend to us." *Matthew Kelly

* What is the difference between a dollar and a half and thirty five-cents?

Nothing. A dollar and a half is the same as thirty five-cents (nickels). But not the same as thirty-five cents.
